Funny, I've been checking every couple days for it and I just saw it appear this morning! And they extended the deadline to Feb. 24th as well.

Once I dig into the app, I'll let you know what I may need on your end.

Thanks,
Aaron

Hello!

Thank you for your patience regarding the USC Good Neighbors grants process. We are delighted with your interest in our unique university/community partnership funding.

We apologize for the delay in posting the link to the online proposal application, and appreciate your patience as we embrace new features in the Common Grant Application system.

The USC Good Neighbors Grant link is now available!

Good news for applicants: Due to the delay in posting of the proposal link, the NEW PROPOSAL DEADLINE is now Friday, February 24, 2017 at 10:00 p.m.

Please register or begin your 2017 grant application at the following Common Grant Application links:

First time users register at: http://tiny.cc/USC_GoodNeighbors_NewUser

Returning users login at: http://tiny.cc/USC_GoodNeighbors_Return

Or just visit the website and click through: goodneighbors.usc.edu

The website has been updated shortly to reflect the new deadline.

We have attached the presentation from the initial Good Neighbors Grant Proposal Information session, as well as the 2017 Resource Guide with contact information, to assist you in your application.

Informal information "office hours" remain available by appointment to discuss and review your proposal, both by phone and in person, for those who wish to visit the USC Community House to in-depth discussions on questions and concerns regarding your application. Formal office hours end on Friday, February 17, 2017, to allow us to be available to answer everyone's short, last minute questions and prepare your proposals for the review committee.

Again, we appreciate your interest and patience, and look forward to seeing your proposal!

Fight on,
